RR Dragons Win Cameron Relays

Round Rock walked off with the Cameron relay crown Saturday night, totaling 148 points and repeating their performance at last year's relays. Hearne won second place with 92 points and Cameron was third with 46.

Mist, drizzle, and finally rain dampened the annual event but did not stop the action.

Ken McLerran won the pole vault event with an 11' vault. That distance was tied by Billy Dees of Hearne and fewer misses by McLerran gave him the decision.

Other Yoemen made good showings even though the tracksters had participated in only one meet before the Cameron relays. Rain caused cancellation of the second and third meets scheduled for the Yoemen.

Richard Cummings placed second in intermediate hurdles at 43.1 and third places were won by Greg Williams, 440 yard dash.

Fine Arts Exhibit Has Formal Opening At Cameron Library

Formal opening of the Texas Fine Arts Traveling Exhibit at Cameron Public Library will be 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday (today). The paintings will be on display for public viewing until April 4, according to Mrs. Robert Elliott, Library Art Committee Chairman. Twenty artists are represented in this year's traveling exhibit. The pictures were selected for circuit and the awards were given by the juries of the Spring Jury Show, May, 1968, the State Citation Exhibition, July 1968, and the Fall Invitational, 1968, which were sponsored by Texas Fine Arts Association.

Watercolor, ink wash, collage, casein, pencil, acrylic and oil paintings are represented in the collection. The showing is sponsored by the Friends of the Cameron Public Library.

52.3; Jerry Richardson, high jump, 5'10"; and Cameron mile relay team, 3:42.3. Williams also scored fourth in broad jump with 20'4 1/2".

Pension Program Studied

Commissioners Consider State Retirement Plan

County Commissioners are studying a plan that would put county officials and employees under a state retirement plan.

The plan would increase the now $70,233.50 annual county payroll by about $15,000 plus an initial payment for past years credit for present courthouse employees.

County Judge O. B. Harden said the Court had appointed Valter White, John Andres and Wayne Wieser to investigate actual costs and benefits of the retirement plan.

He said after the three-man committee makes its report, county commissioners will probably be faced with a decision of adopting the retirement plan or going ahead with other projects such as county jail repairs.

Judge Harden said although the county has had a substantial carry-over of funds in past years, the courthouse remodeling plus a $16,800-employee pay increase would take most of this.

County officials and employees first became eligible for the state retirement plan when a 1966 amendment was approved by voters. Although it was approved state-wide, Milam County registered 1146 votes against and 1096 for the amendment.

Since 1966, Bell and McLennan counties have adopted the program. Williamson, Falls, Robertson and Limestone Counties have not.

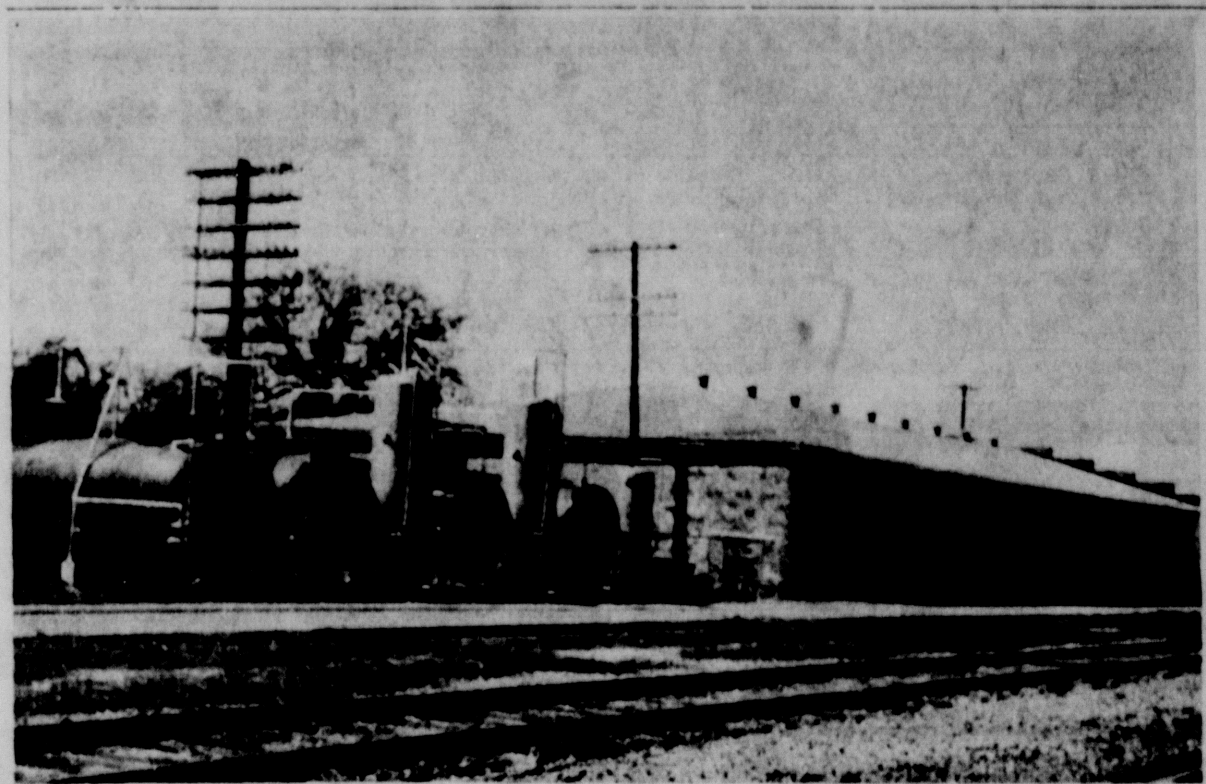

Judge Harden said County employees first petitioned the Commissioners Court to approve the retirement program in July, 1967. At that time all courthouse employees and officials signed the petition, but Commissioners decided the county could not finance the fund.

In December, 1968, the question was again raised in Commissioners Court. Employees of the county clerk and tax offices at that time petitioned for the program and were represented by attorney Don Humble. Commissioners agreed to look into the plan. At a meeting of county officials, employees and commissioners earlier this month Tom McCulloch, county clerk of Bastrop County, explained the program.

Following the meeting, county employees and officials, with the exception of Judge Harden, who was unable to attend, unanimously endorsed the plan, the County Judge said.

Harden said all county employees are now covered by social security, which would continue along with the retirement deductions, if approved by County Commissioners.

3 Councilmen Unopposed Citizens Vote Tuesday

CAMERON AGRI-BUSINESS as viewed from Santa Fe railroad tracks shows storage and measuring tanks at rear of Texas Nutrition and Service Co.

plant. A complex of pumps and control valves connect the tanks to inside facilities where a liquid feed supplement for cattle is manufactured.

Modern Feed For Cows . . .

Local Plant Aids Cattlemen

Changes in the cattle industry are occurring so fast in this scientific age, a layman is hard put to keep up with all the advances. For instance, feeding cattle no longer consists of turning them out to pasture in the spring and putting out hay in the winter. One of the latest methods of aiding the rancher in his attempts to raise better stock is offered by a Cameron agri-business which was one of the first of its kind in Texas.

Texas Nutrition and Service Company, in operation at its South College Street location for about a year, manufactures Pro-Fit, a liquid feed supplement; a dry supplement, and offers a nutritional consulting service for cattle growers in Texas, Oklahoma, and Arkansas, with expansion plans to extend service even farther from Cameron.

Beside standard supplements, Texas Nutrition provides custom mixes for cattlemen with special needs.

When the plant began local operations it was one of just three such plants in Texas. During the past year the number has grown, as more ranchers note growing improvement in their stock and enjoy the labor saving feeding method.

Use of liquid feed supplements is a fairly new addition to cattle nutrition. The supplement enables cattle to better utilize dry roughage and increases their appetites for forages that might not otherwise be eaten. This is especially important during the winter months although year-round feeding of the supplement gives better results.

A scientific blend of proteins, minerals and vitamins, the supplements are formulated by Tony Cummings, owner of the local plant. Cummings holds a Masters degree in ruminant nutrition from Louisiana State University, a BS degree from Oklahoma State University, and has traveled all over the United States working as a nutritional consultant on large ranches, feedlots and feed mills, representing national corporations.

Huge storage tanks outside the plant hold concentrated fermentation solubles, fish solubles, urea, molasses, and other ingredients which are pumped into blending vats inside the plant. Dry ingredients are dissolved in the vats where compressed air and electric rotaries are used to agitate the mixture. The finished product is pumped out to storage tanks where it is transferred to rail cars or transport trucks for delivery.

Special roller feeders are available at the Cameron plant for dispensing liquid supplement to range cattle, thus reducing the required labor.

The feeders, made from 500 gallon tanks cut in half, have plywood covers with four slots cut at intervals. Inside the tank, four plywood wheels turn on an axle and protrude through the slots. As cattle lick the wheels, a continuous supply of liquid feed is carried up on the wheel. Consumption is controlled by special nutritive additives in the feed.

Preservatives used in the supplement formula also make it unattractive to flies, and the liquid is not affected by freezing temperatures.

The dry cattle supplement is mixed in a horizontal ribbon mixer inside the plant, carried in a special elevator to prevent contamination, and bagged for shipment.

The Cameron plant is capable of manufacturing 750 tons of the liquid supplement a week. Expansion plans include the addition of more storage tanks for various liquid feed supplements. The tanks will be mounted on concrete platforms near the present tanks close to Santa Fe tracks.

Carroll Richter of Cameron is local plant manager. The plant employs three men now. The special feeders for liquid supplement are made for Texas Nutrition by local individuals.

Old time Texas cattlemen might rub their eyes and do a "double-take" on seeing cows licking rolling wheels, but he would be pleased when spring comes, to see, not the gaunt, bony cows of old, but cattle looking like they had spent the winter in Florida, with the aid of "syrup" made in Cameron.

Tuesday Light Turnout Is Expected

A light vote is forecast for Tuesday's city election for three unopposed City Council places. No absentee votes had been cast by presstime, City Secretary Buddy Fuller said. Absentee balloting closes Friday, March 28.

Incumbents Starrett Hickman and Lawrence Zotz are seeking re-election to Places 3 and 4 respectively, and appointed incumbent Robert Clark election to Place 5.

Clark, Cameron grain dealer, was appointed to fill the unexpired term of John Hays who died last fall. Hickman, Cameron grocer, is seeking his fourth term on the Council, and Zotz, an Alcoa employee, seeks his third term.

Polls will be open at City Hall from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 1, for the city election. B. J. Matocha is election judge.

Voters are required to be registered with the county to vote in the city election. Residency requirements include one year in the state of Texas and six months in the city prior to the election.

A livelier interest is expected for school trustee elections April 5 as four contested races in the county will be decided.

Two school board positions in Cameron have three contestants: incumbent Hilliard Thomas, Fred Will Hornung, and Wirt Skinner have filed for the posts.

Other contested school trustee races have developed in Rockdale, Thordale, and Gause. Milano, Buckholts, and county school trustee posts for Precincts 3 and 4 are uncontested.

CHA Awards Housing Contract To Quanah Firm

With the announced approval from Washington of $52,216 in additional funds, Cameron Housing Authority Board of Commissioners has officially awarded a contract for the 50-unit low-rent housing project and community center to be constructed in Cameron.

Earlier Construction Company of Quanah was given the contract award for a low bid of $682,895. Announcement of the contract award came in a statement from Fred Starnes, executive director of CHA.

CHA board had recommended to Housing and Urban Development in Fort Worth that additional funds be allocated to supplement the original $753,552 allocated in 1967. Of these funds, $34,810 was used to buy land at two locations in Cameron for the project.

"Bids were submitted with 15 deductive alternates proposed by the architect in plans and specifications. Totals of the alternates were subtracted from base bids.

The local Housing Authority will meet with officials of HUD in Fort Worth, along with the architect and contractor to work out details of the project prior to start of construction.

Graveside Rites For John Hood

John R. Hood, 66, a native of Cameron died in a Luling hospital Monday evening. He was a retired druggist and a member of the Methodist Church.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Flourine Harcourt of Nixon, one nephew, Jack Farr of Houston and one niece, Mrs. W. E. Tillis of Dallas.

Graveside services and burial were at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in Oak Hill Cemetery in Cameron.

Ivey, McIntosh Place At TJC Science Fair

Two Yoe High students, Thomas N. Ivey and William L. McIntosh, were judged winners in the Central Texas Research Society at Temple Junior College last week-end.

Ivey was awarded a first place in senior math and engineering. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ivey of Cameron.

McIntosh, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McIntosh of Cameron, placed third in the senior physics division.

MONDAY LAST DAY TO BUY 1969 PLATES

Milam Countians have only three and one-half days left to register their motor vehicles and the county tax office is bracing for a last-minute rush expected to be worse than usual.

Valter White, Milam County tax assessor-collector, said fewer 1969 license plates had been sold to date than in previous years. White said, "We have at least 40 percent more license plates to sell."

Motorists have until midnight Tuesday (April 1) to get license plates on their vehicles. The county tax office will be open Saturday morning, White said, and Monday will be the last day the license plates will be sold. After Monday there will be a 20 percent increase in fee as a late penalty. Driving a vehicle without new license plates can net drivers a fine of up to $200.

Motorists need their vehicle title and 1968 registration receipt to obtain license plates, White said.

GarbageBurningBan Means City Must Use New Disposal Method

Burning of garbage at the City dump grounds must be discontinued by July 1 to comply with new regulations aimed at reducing air pollution in the state.

Mayor E. A. Perrin said Cameron was notified of the ban on open burning of garbage two years ago after legislation was passed requiring cities of 5,000 and over to adopt other methods of garbage disposal. The State Health Department is administering the anti-pollution program.

Three methods of disposal were discussed at a meeting in Austin Monday, attended by Mayor Perrin and City Works Manager J. B. Earle. The sanitary land fill method is most feasible for Cameron, Perrin said, requiring least outlay of land and equipment. The process will not be much more expensive than the method now used in Cameron.

A combination dozer and front end loader will be needed for the land fill method. Using this method, a city's daily garbage is dumped into a pit, compacted and then covered with a six inch layer of dirt. The process is repeated daily until the fill is level with surrounding ground. About one and one-half acres of land per year would be needed for a city of Cameron's size.

A full report on the requirements for garbage disposal will be presented at the next City Council meeting, the Mayor said.

Two-Car Collision Injures One Driver

Thomas L. Little of Cameron was treated at a local hospital for minor injuries he received Sunday afternoon in a two-car collision at the intersection of North Travis and West 3rd Streets. Little's 1950 Ford collided with a 1962 Chevrolet driven by David A. Horelica of Cameron. About $300 damage was done to each of the cars, City Patrolman Flipe Martinez said. Horelica was not injured.

IMPROVING SALES — Bill Leigh, standing, sales promotion specialist and president of W. A. Leigh & Associates addresses a group of Cameron businessmen, managers and employees. He presented a "Cap-sule Course on Human Relations" Tuesday which highlights the kickoff of an eight-week city-wide promotion "For a Greater Cameron," 18 businesses featuring specials. Special baby pictures in the windows designate participating firms. Seated at right is Frank Luecke, publisher of The Herald, who introduced Leigh. Leigh's talk followed a buffet dinner.

Tax Increase 'Hard To Justify'

Rep. Kubiak Says About Proposal

After hearing the third tax measure proposed this legislative session by Gov. Preston Smith, Rep. Dan Kubiak recalls the words of a retired legislator in the late 1920's. "I will vote for an increase in taxes if I vote for an increase in spending. At this time I have not voted for increased spending in my area so..."

The quote was prompted by Smith's proposal to lay taxes on cigarettes and levy a tax on chemical products. "Any increase in taxes is hard to justify at this time," Kubiak said in his letter, adding that he will have to spend many more hours studying the measures.

He also, the Governor's Committee on Public Education, drew galleries full of witnesses at the Tuesday hearing. "Most of you realize the amount of work we have to do in trying to clean up this bill," Kubiak said. It is a very difficult and complicated process.

The House Education Committee, of which Rep. Kubiak is a member, heard two bills offering experimental programs in public schools for a 10-month school year and another for a 12-month school year with rotating trimesters. Both will be pilot programs offered in various areas of the state.

Despite efforts of many representatives in 14 tries, HB 117 passed the House and is in the Senate.

Santa Fe Calls Stockholders To Chicago Meeting, Presents Report

Santa Fe Industries, Inc., which became the parent company of The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company and subsidiaries in 1967, acquired approximately 84.4 percent of the Railway stock through a voluntary exchange, today presented its first annual report to stockholders, and at the same time gave notice that the annual meeting of stockholders in Santa Fe Industries, Inc. will be held in Chicago at 10 a.m., May 1 in the Prudential Building Auditorium.

This marks the first time that a meeting of Santa Fe stockholders is to be held in Chicago.

In the message to stockholders signed by E. S. Marsh, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Santa Fe Industries, Inc., it is stated that with the creation of Santa Fe Industries, Inc. the report is presented in the manner customarily used by industrial concerns with reference to format, content and determination of net income on the basis of generally accepted accounting principles rather than the ICC basis for a regulated carrier as applied for the Railway in its prior reports.

The major effect of this change being a lower net income by the amount of tax reductions properly in excess of 5.2 percent. Figures taken in the use of authorized accelerated depreciation methods, which amount is treated as a deferred credit to future income rather than being recognized in current-year income reporting.

Consolidated net income on this basis was $44,578,044 or $1.91 per share in 1968 compared with $42,484,437 or $1.72 per share in 1967 an increase of 5.2 percent. Figures for both 1968 and 1967 have been restated on a "pooling of interests" basis to include the results of operation of The Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company and subsidiaries prior to the effective date of the exchange of Railway stock for Industries stock. On the old ICC basis of reporting, the net income was $42,484,437 or $1.72 per share in 1967.

"TB is still a major problem in Texas with only two states in the country with more cases than we have," she said. "We are making a little progress."

"TB is not generally known by either doctors or the general population. They are unaware that it is still a major problem."

Dr. Hsu traced the development of treatment from the sanatorium early in the century through the use of X-ray for detection to the present use of pills to combat the disease. "Much of present day treatment can be done with short hospital stays and then home use of pills and supervision through clinical visits," she said.

Krall Elected CCC President

J. Z. (Jake) Krall has been elected president of the Cameron County Club and L. W. Stroup, Jr. has been elected vice president. Albert Collins was re-elected secretary.

Country Club directors are: Dr. S. H. Richardson, James Camp, Lee Marek, Dr. George Boyd, Bob Ellett, Dr. Gus Evans, W. C. Wallace, Dr. C. G. Swift and James Kahler.

Jungmann said the American Farm Bureau Federation board of directors has approved a recommendation calling for extending the CCC cotton loan term to months from the time cotton is placed in the loan, and setting the CCC resale price at 10 percent of the loan rate, plus carrying charges.

Present expiration dates for cotton in the loan is July 31. Jungmann said the effect of the proposed change regarding loan term would be to extend the time in which the producer could manage his own cotton in the loan. During this period, the CCC could not sell this cotton in the market in competition with other cotton.

The recommended higher resale price would encourage mills to buy through established markets rather than through CCC, Jungmann said.

Rites At Buckholts

Keith Blankenship, 75, of Buckholts, died at 9:10 p.m. Thursday in a Temple hospital.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Buckholts Baptist Church, the Rev. C. A. Kent officiating. Burial was in the Cornish Cemetery.

Mr. Blankenship was a native of Milton County, born Sept. 27, 1893, and lived in Buckholts most of his life. He was a veteran of World War I. He was a barber.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Wynelle Hearn of Houston; three brothers, Hubert Blankenship, Ellis Blankenship and Riley Blankenship, all of Santa Barbara, Calif.; three sisters, Mrs. Myrl Johnson of Santa Barbara, Calif.; Mrs. Stella Wiley of Houston, and Mrs. Lillian James of Seattle, Wash.; and three grandchildren.

Blankenship Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Tips From Tippet

Research into the value and possible dangers of safety belt use has been going on for many years, and the overwhelming opinion is in favor of the belts.

While many people can still convince themselves that they do not need seat belts, it is hard to argue intelligently with the facts.

A study was made by Swedish authorities of some 28,000 auto crashes which occurred at speeds up to 60 miles per hour. More than 9,000 occupants in these crashes were wearing a combination seat belt-shoulder strap, and not one of them was fatally injured.

In the same study it was found that non-belted drivers and occupants were killed at all speeds from 12 miles an hour up. Severe skull injury was reduced 88 percent for passengers and 69 percent for drivers.

Cornell University compiled detailed reports on 50,000 injury crashes, then matched accidents until they had 63 identical cases, half involving seat belt wearers, half non-wearers.

Awareness Of TB

Needed, Dr. Hsu Tells Area Group

The need for awareness of the threat of tuberculosis and the readily available methods of treatment were emphasized by Dr. Katherine H. K. Hsu at Temple Saturday. She spoke at the first anniversary meeting of the Central Texas Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Dr. Hsu commended the area organization for its efforts to combat respiratory diseases on a 25-county basis.

"TB is still a major problem in Texas with only two states in the country with more cases than we have," she said. "We are making a little progress."

"TB is not generally known by either doctors or the general population. They are unaware that it is still a major problem."

While their findings are very complex and cover many pages, their conclusion was that the use of seat belts produced a major reduction in the occurrence of dangerous or fatal injuries to occupants of a car.

But there is no protection in an unbelted seat belt. It must be used—and used every time we venture into traffic.

Smith Asks Tax Hikes To Rescue Revenue Program

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN—Gov. Preston Smith called on the Legislature to patch up a $71 million hole in his $261 million new revenue program by raising the cigarette tax to 15 cents a pack and placing a one-half of one per cent gross receipts levy on chemical producers.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin's opinion holding unconstitutional Smith's proposal to apply most school land mineral lease income to current educational operations made supplemental recommendations necessary.

While suggesting alternative revenues, Smith made two other points:

—He is having nothing to do with "one-year budgeting" as recommended by former Gov. John Connally in 1967 as a device to postpone a tax bill.

—"Serious talk" is being heard in favor of a corporate profits tax, and the day when one will be necessary may not be too long off, although he is not urging one now.

Smith's revenue package calls for placing alcoholic beverages and personal services (like laundry, repairs, parking and cable TV) under the three per cent state sales tax. He emphasized he is dead serious about slapping a $10 state surcharge on moving traffic violation fines, and he would raise the tobacco products tax to ratios of a decade ago. He also recommends the state sales tax be applied to each lease of rental equipment as well as the original purchase price.

Smith originally asked a three cent a pack hike in the cigarette tax. Now, he wants to go to four cents (which would raise an additional $26 million). The gross receipts levy on those producing chemical products is estimated to bring in $45 million.

Reaction to the alternative proposals varied widely. Smith was commended for adding a business tax to his all-consumer program of last month, but some lawmakers didn't like singling out one industry.

House Speaker Gus Mutscher said he is hopeful of early hearings by the Revenue and Taxation Committee on a "major" tax bill.

LEGISLATURE PLOWS ON
At the half-way mark of the 61st legislative session, the House speeded up and the Senate slowed down.

Among major measures advanced by the House were bills to strengthen the governor's power to quell riots and to create a new University of Texas branch at San Antonio.

Other measures increased teacher retirement benefits, broadened resident tuition privileges to college students from military families, provided for distributing state available school fund money on the basis of scholastic population (instead of average daily attendance), changed the name of James Connally Technical Institute near Waco to Texas State Technical Institute and authorized procedure for dissolving 492 inactive water districts.

Creation of a separate commission for rehabilitation services now has approval of both houses, as have bills to place West Texas

State University under a separate board of regents and to permit certain types of metal-studded snow tires on highways. A House resolution would make blue topaz the official Texas gem and petrified hardwood the official stone.

Senate passed 53 local bills on a special calendar for non-controversial matters with limited application, but bogged down for hours over the measure to create a state commission to administer a memorial to the late President John F. Kennedy. Senate gave tentative approval to allowing city bus drivers taken under municipal transit systems before 1964 to retain collective bargaining benefits they had as union members.

Governor Smith signed half a dozen measures including a campus riot control bill and major improvements in workmen's compensation legislation.

COMMITTEES AT WORK

Senate Labor and Management Committee gave three-to-two approval to $1.25 an hour state minimum wage law. Senate Jurisprudence Committee endorsed the bill to authorize radio and television to carry official legal notices and advertisements—but not those involving land descriptions.

Senate Youth Affairs Committee heard testimony on SE 281 by Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon that would up the age state counts could declare children dependent from 16 to 18. This bill also forces parents of children under 18 to provide support.

In the Senate Water and Conservation Committee, the $3.5 billion Texas Water Plan was voted favorably, with little debate and less ceremony. The plan is included in eight Senate bills sponsored by Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells.

American Indians appeared before the Senate State Affairs Committee to favor a bill to help them retain their right to use peyote in their religious rites. Bill was sent back to the Senate with a favorable report.

Senate Jurisprudence Committee heard bills to increase maximum punishment for murder with malice and a trespass bill both sent to subcommittee.

Senate State Affairs Committee heard Sen. Charles Wilson's bill to create a Texas Public Utilities Commission to regulate public utilities. More testimony is to come on that bill.

Sen. Don Kennard's package of eight conservation bills got consideration from the Senate Parks and Wildlife Committee. Three were sent to the Senate and the rest were sent to a subcommittee.

House State Affairs Committee gave a favorable ear to a bill that would turn over the Texas State Exhibits Building at Hemis Fair '68 to the University of Texas System. Another bill to force the building and its approximate $850,000 annual upkeep on the City of San Antonio got a cold reception. Both were sent to subcommittees.

Forty members of the Fort Worth Preservation Committee appeared before the House Parks and Wildlife Committee to favor a bill that would force the highway department or any other state agency to hold a public hearing before going ahead with any condemnation proceedings of historic or park lands.

In the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee, HB 72 by Rep. Glenn Kothmann to raise the penalty for possession of LSD to a felony offense was sent to subcommittee.

House Governmental Affairs and Efficiency Committee sent to subcommittee HB 584 by Rep. Dave Finney to give domestic companies an advantage over foreign firms in acquiring state contracts.

In the House Judiciary Committee, HB 581 by Rep. C. L. Ray, Jr. of Marshall that requires non-profit agencies dealing in education to give full disclosure of the way they use money annually was sent to subcommittee.

OIL ALLOWABLE UP

Railroad Commission set for April the highest oil allowable since the Mid-East crisis of 1967-49.9 percent of potential.

This action gave substance to the optimistic predictions of "a good year" for oil industry.

Market demand next month will permit maximum production of 3,588,447 barrels a day, 229,279 more than for March which operated under 45.6 percent allowable.

Eight of 13 major producers asked for bigger output, four were satisfied with the March level, and only one requested less.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED

Governor Smith reappointed Brig. Gen. James M. Rose of Austin assistant adjutant general of Texas Air National Guard and Col. Carl F. Schupp II of Austin assistant for the Army Guard.

Franklin G. Moffitt, formerly of Dallas, was named deputy director of Southwestern Region, Office of Economic Opportunity.

Smith designated Mrs. Gene Waucho of Austin as research and information specialist for Texas OEO.

Col. Clarence A. Wilson of Luling was elevated to commander of National Guard's 36th Infantry Brigade with headquarters in San Antonio. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Ross Ayers of Friona who was sworn in last week as Adjutant General of Texas National Guard following confirmation by Senate.

RAY POLLUTION WARNED

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, appearing at hearing on proposed rules for oil drilling in offshore waters, advised a close Railroad Commission watch over operations in bays and inlets as well as the Gulf of Mexico.

Glaucoma Tests Offered Free At April 13 Program

Free tests for glaucoma will be offered at a Glaucoma Screening Program Sunday afternoon, April 13 in Rockdale. The screening program is being sponsored by the Texas Society for the Prevention of Blindness and Rockdale Lions Club.

Glaucoma is a disease causing high pressure in the eyeball, which, if untreated, results in a gradual loss of sight. It occurs most frequently in persons 35 years of age and over, and is the second leading cause of blindness among Americans.

Commonly referred to as "the sneak thief of sight", glaucoma causes the sight to be literally squeezed out of the eyes. The fluids encased in the eyeball, suddenly or gradually, exert pressure against the retina—the inner lining of the eye containing nerve endings which connect to the optic nerve.

Half of the victims of glaucoma do not realize they face blindness because the chronic type of the disease works slowly and without pain. If treatment is begun early, medical science most often can check glaucoma's progress and the victim's sight is saved. Sight destroyed by glaucoma cannot be restored.

The free glaucoma tests will be open to the public, 35 years of age and over. More details will be announced later.

What Others Say . . .

Eloquent Silence . . .

E. M. Forster, the British writer, was made a member of the Order of Merit recently on the eve of his 90th birthday. This is the highest nonpolitical honor the British sovereign can bestow. The British are never in a hurry about this sort of thing. Forster achieved eminence as a novelist but hasn't published a novel since "A Passage to India" in 1924.

That passage of time perturbs neither

Forster nor his countrymen. In fact, it is regarded as rather a virtue. Asked once why he had written no more novels, Forster replied, "Well, I hadn't anything more I wanted to say." This is a lack that has not deterred some other eminent men. Silence may be a negative virtue, but it is often a strong one. We commend the Forster philosophy to all and sundry.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor: People are always talking about the rules and regulations Washington is always thinking up for the people, so it was with considerable amazement I read in newspaper last night that Washington has thought up some for self.

The Attorney General's Department, out of force of habit I guess, has come up with a set of rules for the 1200 lawyers it has in the Justice Department. Every lawyer must keep a log every fifteen minutes of every day of how he spent his time.

That he did from 9 a.m. to 9:15 a.m. to be entered, from 9:15 to 9:30, etc., right on through the fire day, five days a week. That I want to know is, do you reckon there's any danger of spreading?

Are we getting close to the time when Washington will require, for example to give a daily account of how I spent my time from sun-up to sun-down?

Since you never can tell and like to be ahead of the hounds, I speak, so long as the hounds are asleep, I decided to jot down what I did yesterday, just to see how it works.

6 a.m. to 6:30: studied about getting up.

6:40: got up.

7 to 7:30: waited for breakfast.

7:30 to 8: ate.

8 to 9: planned my day's work.

9 to 10: revised my plans.

10 to 11: can't remember.

11 to 12: too near lunch to start anything now.

12 to 12:30: ate.

12:30 to 1:30: nap.

1:30 to 3:30: went to town to get a tractor part.

3:30 to 4: discovered it didn't fit.

4 to 4:40: finally decided to try again tomorrow.

4:40 to 5: a man can't work all the time. Rested.

5 to 6: watched television's summary of the embattled world.

Got back to normal with a copy of The Herald.

6: threw the log away.

This is not to say however that those 1200 lawyers shouldn't keep it up. Any time spent checking on themselves is that much less time spent checking on you and me.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Sales Course Draws 90

Praise for Cameron as a shopping center for a wide trade area and tips on how sales personnel can best handle difficult customers were points included in a "Capsule Course in Human Relations" presented by Bill Leigh Tuesday night to about 90 merchants and salespeople.

President of the widely active promotional firm of W. A. Leigh associates, Leigh's presentation marked the start of an eight-week "Shop Cameron" program.

IRISH WAKE' IS BEST PLACE FOR PET PEEVES

Pet peeves were written out, and anonymously, and buried in miniature trunk at the Irish Wake' theme Three Arts Club March meeting.

Mrs. John B. Henderson, Jr., and Mrs. Monroe Fuchs were hostesses for the meeting at the Henderson home.

Mrs. Wirt Skinner presented a program of slides and commentary on their travels in Ireland. Plans for the St. Edwards Hospital benefit box supper to be held at the Fleur de lis Garden Club April show were discussed at the business meeting. Mrs. Charles Chandler presided in the absence of the president.

Spring flowers decorated the living room and dining room, where dessert plate and coffee were served. Mrs. Niley J. Smith and Mrs. Dana Kestenbaum assisted at the serving table.

Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. D. R. Dodson, Mrs. W. C. Wallace, Mrs. John B. Henderson, Jr., Mrs. Mark Perrin, and Mrs. Skinner.

Yoemen Cited On All-District List

Two Cameron Yoemen were named to the second team of 19-AA All-District basketballers and two more received honorable mention, according to Yoe head basketball coach Ron Murdock.

Robert Brashear, 5'9" Yoe High sophomore, and Tommy Terrell, 5'10" Yoe High senior, were district coaches' choice for the second team along with boys from Elgin, Round Rock and Hearne. Honorable mentions went to Jerry Richardson and Bobby Simpson.

Hearne led District 19-AA with two players on the All-District first team, with Georgetown, Elgin, and Caldwell placing one each. Incidentally, all were taller than the Cameron boys.

Team scoring in district play was "well balanced," coaches said. The individual scoring for Yoemen was:

Brashear 138, Terrell 109, Stearner 104, Richardson 103, Simpson 78.

with participating merchants' messages featured in The Cameron Herald each Thursday.

Directing the bulk of his remarks to the sales personnel present, Leigh told them "Cameron's future as a shopping center is in your hands," and termed them "the most important link in merchandising."

He said the American public is on an unprecedented buying spree but warned that shoppers go where they think they can get the best buys and treatment. "The newspaper can attract shoppers into the community," he said "but it's up to you merchants and store owners to get them into your places of business."

Attractive store displays and well-informed salespeople are essential to successful store operation, Leigh continued, and pointed out that store wide cooperation is another element necessary to good customer relations.

He urged every person involved in sales to become an authority in his or her line of merchandise or service. A survey by Redbook magazine has shown that shoppers complain most about poorly informed and disinterested salespeople and about merchandise which is advertised but not available.

LEGAL NOTICE—

CITATION BY PUBLICATION THE STATE OF TEXAS

To: Jack Morris, Defendant, Greeting:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED, to appear before the District Court of Milam County at the Courthouse thereof, in Cameron, Texas, by filing a written answer at or before 10 o'clock a.m. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 12th day of May A.D. 1969, to Plaintiff's Petition filed in said court, on the 7th day of March A.D. 1969, in this cause, numbered 16042 on the docket of said court and styled Kathryn Morris, Plaintiff, vs. Jack Morris, Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit: Suit for divorce on the grounds of cruel treatment.

If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The officer executing this writ shall promptly serve the same according to requirements of law, and the mandates hereof, and make due return as the law directs.

Witness, Grady Allen, Clerk of the District Court (s) of Milam County, Texas.

Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said court at Cameron, Texas, this 26 day of March A.D. 1969.

Whether you are in soft goods, furniture, hardware, a flower shop, you should take pride in your ability as an expert in your particular line," Leigh declared. . . . and treat each transaction as though your career depended on its outcome."

He cautioned against "pre-judging" a customer and pointed out that everyone is a prospect for a sale.

The sales authority talked about cash versus credit customers and suggested that an attempt be made to set up a credit account for each customer. "A customer with cash belongs to any merchant," he said, "but a charge customer's loyalty is to the store where his account is carried."

A highlight of Leigh's presentation was a discussion of the "10 customers who require special handling." His list included the chiseler, egotist, tough guy, moody type, silent type, gripe artist, indecisive type, "uh-huh" type, the deadbeat and the browser.

"And customers are hard to come by," he explained. "You should make sincere effort to hold each one."

Leigh concluded his address by discussing the "Three steps to successful selling" -- the approach, demonstration and close. He advised, "Make the customer like you by first liking the customer." Know your products and merchandise and be enthusiastic," and "know when to close the sale."

Jehovah's Witnesses To Hold Assembly In Austin This Weekend

Jehovah's Witnesses of Cameron will be attending a three-day assembly to be held in Austin, March 28-30, according to Durwood Herbelin, local minister of the congregation. Eugene R. Brandt, representative of the Watchtower Society of Brooklyn, New York will direct the activities.

A gathering of about 800 is expected to attend from Central Texas. Brandt, acting as chairman for the assembly will open the program Friday evening speaking on the theme, "Make Wise Use of the Remaining Time."

Highlighting the Saturday afternoon program will be a baptism service conducted by the chairman. The three-day gathering will end Sunday afternoon with Brandt speaking on "Law and Order--When and How?"

Fishermen Reminded That Alcoa Lake Has Prohibited Area

Area fishermen and newcomers are reminded that a portion of Alcoa Lake is "off limits" for fishing. The reminder comes after two Baylor students were charged with trespassing Sunday after they were caught fishing in the "hot lake" below the outlet from Alcoa's power plant.

The trespassing case was disposed of in Justice of the Peace Leonard Allen's court at Rockdale.

One area of the lake is marked by "No Trespassing" signs, and fishing is prohibited first because of danger from the power plant outlet current and also since the water's temperature makes it ideal for fish breeding and spawning.

Fishing in Alcoa Lake is free to the public. A permit must be obtained from the concession stand at the lake. The permit is turned in when fishermen leave. The lake is open for fishing between sunrise and sunset each day except Monday.

DOORS IN TEXAS

By Vera Sanford There is a place for light tackle, but a fisherman should be certain he is in the right place before using it.

For instance, I've been reading about fishermen taking cobia (ling) off the the Florida coast with light tackle.

Oh boy! In Texas you can figure on the average ling running 15 pounds or better. Some go up to 60 pounds. And every ounce a fighter!

You can get plenty tired boating them with 20-pound-test line. So why fool around with six-pound line on a light-weight rod, and perhaps lose the fish with a hook in its jaws?

Austin Angler Glen Hayden, fishing in the Texoma tournament a year or so ago, (in which he won the top prize of a little more than $2,000), used 17-pound-test line to land his bass. He wasn't fooling with them!

Several irate fishermen from other parts of the world chided him about the weight of his line. One man wrote that he used only two-pound line and that large only because he couldn't buy one-pound line.

A friend down at Falcon Lake recently said he wanted nothing less than 20-pound-test line for fishing in that wonderful body of water that straddles the Rio Grande between Texas and Mexico. Fishermen now working the lakes around Texas, where there is considerable bush left on the bottom, like line 14 to 17-pound test.

I learned a good lesson about this last fall, on a ranch tank in Southwest Texas, while using a rig that had 8-pound line.

It cast well and I cast far out to the edge of a creek channel that ran into the tank. A four-pound bass took that side-shad-plus, jumped a couple of times, then headed straight for brush protruding about half-way to the bank.

With that light line I couldn't hold him. He managed to get to the brush, and I managed to tangle the line in the brush. I then waded out into the chilly water and took him off. Right then I decided it was safer, in more ways than one, to use a line that will handle a fish.

You can get just about all the distance and fun you want, with 12, 14 or 17-pound monoline. And you are much more certain of boating the fish. After all that's what most of us are after. We might turn him loose when we get him in, but don't like to lose him before he reaches the boat or the bank.

One thing can be said about today's monofilament line . . . it usually carries its correctly rated strength. There was a time when you bought a 15-pound line that probably wouldn't test over 10 pounds.

Most bait fishermen learned long ago to use a good heavy line. When they drop a minnow down in the brush bed they want something that will pull the fish out of that brush.

Thanks to the inspiration of such organizations as Future Farmers of America and 4-H Clubs, this young man and thousands of other American girls and boys are realizing the thrill of being "businessmen" — operating their own businesses and earning profits for their ingenuity, investment and hard work. They're learning the privileges and responsibilities of our free enterprise system from first hand experience.

As young people explore their potential in the business future of our country, they also learn more about their unique American freedoms — freedom to succeed, freedom to invent new and better ways to do the job, freedom to be self-supporting individuals.

We at Texas Power & Light Company are proud of these young businessmen.

IT'S A FACT: The taxes paid by Texas Power & Light Company have more than doubled in the past eight years. Today, TP&L is the biggest taxpayer in many of the 453 cities and towns we serve.

Lawn Damaged By Rain, Insects

By J. D. Moore

'My lawn has "gone to pot"'. What should I do? This is a fairly common question, not only in Cameron, Rockdale, etc., but also in most all areas of central, south and east Texas.

First, we should remember that 1968 was a high rainfall season with favorable conditions for all insects and diseases. Chinch bug population reached an all time infestation high last summer and fall. Then too, lot of fertility was lost due to heavy rains.

Most of the grasses in lawns grow under artificial conditions and are more subject to attack by disease organisms than they would be in a natural environment. Healthy, vigorously growing, adapted lawn grasses that are properly managed can best survive disease attacks.

The homeowner's best defense against lawn diseases is to follow these basic principles of lawn establishment and maintenance:

- 1) Select grasses adapted to the soil, climatic, and light conditions under which they will be grown.
- 2) Spend the necessary time, effort and money on caring for the lawn. In addition to disease control, lawn care includes proper fertilizing, watering, mowing, and insect and weed control.

Proper care does not completely prevent or cure diseases, but it helps to curb them so that chemical controls can be more effective if they become necessary.

Poor turf may be due to disease or to any one or a combination of other causes—undesirable or unadapted species, insect damage, fertilizer and chemical burning, dog urine, improper mowing, improper watering, localized dry spots, and compacted soil.

LOCAL CONDITIONS

The most common grass and plant problem in the Rockdale area last growing season was lack of fertility. Because of the soil structure, fertilizer leaching was heavy as a result of the heavy rains.

In the Cameron area, insects in the lawns was most common. Chinch bug infestations in damaging numbers were present in 3 out of 4 lawns examined. Pillbugs are another common insect found in home lawns. These insects feed on organic matter and sometimes feed on plant roots.

What should we do? Let's get rid of the insects first. Many claims are made about lawn fertilizers containing insecticides. We have no fuss with these mixtures—they won't control chinch bugs. A&M Entomologists recommend the use of 14 percent Diazinon granules at the rate of seven pounds per 1,000 sq. feet of lawn. Areas to be treated should be accurately measured in square feet. Diazinon granules should be weighed and spread evenly by hand. Wear rubber or protective gloves—measured areas to be treated may be marked for accurate treatment.

After treatment, a ladder or such an object may be pulled sideways over the turf to concentrate the granules down into the turf. A&M recommends the application of these Diazinon granules to be made about May 1 to 10.

The reason for applying the Diazinon granules at this date is because of the life cycle pattern of these insects. Most chinch bug damage is caused by the young bugs or nymphs. Yellowish spots first appear before they turn into large brown spots in the lawn.

Full grown chinch bugs are black and have a white spot on the back between the wing pads. These adults spend the winter down in the grass turf. As spring warms up the turf, these adults become active, mate, lay eggs which hatch into nymphs the latter part of April and first part of May. The early May application of insecticide is to get this new crop of insects. Actually, the overwintered adults do very little damage other than serve the purpose of starting the new generation which does the damage.

Where can I get Diazinon granules? Your insecticide dealer can order this material for you. If you are unable to arrange for the granules, the county agent can help you with this cost? Diazinon granules should cost 35 cents per pound. Information on lawn care is available at the county agents office. Diseases of lawns will be discussed later.

ALERT FOR SCREW-WORMS

Veterinarians in USDA's Agricultural Research Service anticipate one of the worst outbreaks in the 7-year history of the SW Screwworm Eradication Program. Conditions are favorable for a buildup this spring and stockmen are urged to inspect their herds regularly, to collect suspected larvae for identification and to treat all wounds with approved smears.

STATE-4-H HORSE SHOW

The 7th annual State 4-H Horse Show will be held in Sweetwater, August 14-16 at the Nolan County Coliseum. Some 400 4-H Club members from every section of Texas will participate in the show.

Livestock Dealer Is Charged By P&S In Bonding Violation

Arnold Young, a livestock dealer in Groesbeck, has been charged with violating bonding regulations under the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said today.

He buys livestock in east-central Texas.

The administrative complaint was filed by USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration (P&S).

P&S requires livestock dealers to provide bonds as a measure of financial protection to sellers. Filing a complaint does not prove that Mr. Young has violated the P&S regulations. He has a right to a hearing to determine if the evidence supports the charge.

P&S alleges that Young's bond was terminated on July 6, 1968, that he was informed of the bonding regulations, but that he continued operations.

If the charge is proven, his dealer registration may be suspended until he supplies the bond.

Local Chicks To Star On Austin TV Show

About a dozen baby chicks will stage an original "coming out" party on the Romper Room program, on KHFI-TV, in Austin, on Thursday, April 3.

With intricate timing, the chicks will be hatched during the show, with thousands of children witnessing the event over live television.

The baby chicks, still in the eggs, of course, are being provided by Monroe Fuchs of the Ideal Poultry Breeding Farms Inc. An "on cue" arrival is expected.

"This is sort of an unusual departure from our normal routine of hatching chicks," commented Fuchs. In order to make sure that some of the chicks will actually "hatch out" on the show, he said, eggs had to be set at 7:30 a.m. March 13. "In our mammoth incubators, the turning, heat and humidity are all taken care of mechanically. But hatching in the TV studio required some special techniques several hours before the show," he said.

4-H NEWS -

By Fred Schuetz

On Saturday, March 15, Renda Roddam accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Roddam of Minerva, competed in the Queens Contest at the Austin Livestock Show and Rodeo. There were eight 4-H and twelve FFA contestants from Central Texas competing for the queen's crown. Renda was selected with two other girls to be in the final run-off.

BROILERS DISTRIBUTED

On Friday, March 21, 50 4-H and FFA boys and girls met on the lawn of the courthouse to meet their sponsor and receive their broilers. This marks the 15th year for this program and all indications point to a successful year.

There were 34 4-H'ers on hand to receive their broilers. These were Deborah Stephens, Gery Hollas, Daniel Richardson, Pam Watkins, Joe Garza, Donald Fleming, Judy Helpert, Eugene Morav, Melanie McClaren, Jerry Mueck, Wayne Jistel, Ricky Richter, Joseph Jistel, Jennifer Kostroun.

Also, Kathy Tomek, Karen Ann Wadlington, Gregory Roy Wilson, Rose Warschak, Rosemary Ehler, Ricky Mendoza, Tommy Braden, Kathleen Kostroun, Lynn Laywell, Blane Laywell, Jane Helpert, Glynn Phillips, Paula Phillips, Paula Fleming, Julius Tepera, Rufus Lamere, Richard Lamere, Michael Malone, Johnny Winkler, Peggy Stephens, and Douglas Brown.

CLUB MEETINGS

The Rockdale 4-H Club met on March 13 in the Civic Room of the Rockdale State Bank. A program on gardening was presented to the group by 4-H members. Then the members who will participate in the County Eliminations on Saturday March 22, gave their programs. The AGAA of Milam county attended.

The Gause 4-H Club met in the Methodist Church Fellowship Hall March 18. 4-H, a total program, was discussed by the 4-H'ers, adult leaders and ass't county agent of Milam county. The AGAA then gave a program on Entomology which concluded the meeting.

LAWN AND GARDEN WEEK

It's time to start getting the lawn and garden in shape for the summer ahead. Everett Janne, Extension landscape horticulturist, says there are many things which can be done now by home owners if they want to enjoy a beautiful lawn and flower garden this summer.

Farmers who plan to install a conservation practice under the Agricultural Conservation Program are reminded that applications should be made before the conservation work is begun if Federal cost-shares are to be paid.

It is very important that an application for approval of an ACP practice be made beforehand so that the County Committee can budget the limited funds available and set aside funds for practices approved for farmers.

Under the ACP, the Federal government shares the cost of farm conservation practices needed in the public interest. The program is administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Services, and each local application comes before the farmer-elected County ASC Committee for approval or disapproval.

Farmers interested in doing conservation work under the ACP may obtain more information from the Milam County ASCS Office or any County or Community ASC Committeeman.

JAMES WELLS

PLEIKU, Vietnam

One of the Army badges that front-line soldiers wear with special pride is the Combat Infantryman Badge. It was awarded to Specialist Four James A. Wells near Pleiku, Vietnam, Jan. 30.

Spec. Wells, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Wells of Route 4, Cameron, is assigned as a fire-team leader with Company C, 1st Battalion of the 4th Infantry Division's 35th Infantry.

The CIB has been awarded since late in World War II for sustained ground contact against an enemy.

In honor of its singular meaning, the badge is worn above all other awards and decorations, over the left breast. It is a blue rectangle with a silver file mounted on it, superimposed over a curved wreath. Subsequent awards are represented by stars at the top center of the wreath.

Seed Rangelands Now While Soil Has Plenty Of Moisture

COLLEGE STATION With an adequate supply of soil moisture in nearly all areas of the state, now is the time to be seeding rangelands to restore forage production, says Dan Rodgers, Extension range specialist at Texas A&M University. The Trans-Pecos region is about the only area that is now short of soil moisture, he adds.

Seeding with native grasses following mechanical brush control is an effective means of achieving long-term reduction of brush density, said Rodgers. Texas county agricultural agents in 1968 conducted 2,600 result demonstrations throughout the state on 72,000 acres resulting in successful establishment on 70 percent of the demonstration areas, noted the specialist.

Yet this large acreage in seeding demonstrations represented only 10 percent of the acreage where brush was controlled mechanically as cooperative extension result demonstrations, he said.

Years of research plus the trial-and-error efforts of progressive ranchers show that all dense, brush-covered ranges without a natural seed source of better grasses must be artificially seeded to assure rapid restoration of forage production. Good grazing management alone can make little progress without a seed source of good grasses. Thus, new seeds must be planted and the area deferred to assure seedling establishment, emphasized Rodgers.

The range specialist pointed out the importance of observing certain, well-established principles to assure successful grass seeding, following mechanical brush control.

He noted the use of good quality seed, planted at the proper time and depth, are among the most important considerations. Controlling competitive plants and planting on a feed-free, firm seedbed also help improve the chances of a successful stand establishment.

Deferring grazing until seedlings are well established is important to insure restoration of the rangeland, he said.

Broadcasting of grass seed following rootplowing can be a successful method of seeding, especially if the land is dragged, chained or raked to prepare a proper seed bed, Rodgers said.

DEMAND AND PRICES UP

The demand and price for pine timber increased sharply during the past year, reports Bill Smith, Extension forester. The increases in wood product output has meant a real resurgence in markets for timber growers.

BEER—toast to America's economy

The brewing industry is a massive and dynamic part of the national economy. Each year it pours billions of dollars into commerce and government.

- $1.4 billion in state and federal excise taxes.
- $3 billion to employees, suppliers and distributors.
- $875 million in agricultural products and packaging materials.

The brewing industry is a proud contributor to America's prosperity.

Savings Bond Program Marks 28th Birthday

Although May 1, 1969, marks the 28th anniversary of the modern Savings Bond Program, the sale of Treasury bonds to individual citizens dates back nearly 200 years.

Since 1776 they have been sold to every generation of American families to finance wars, acquire and develop territories, build railroads, construct canals, and buy new lands beyond our borders. One such purchase -- Alaska for $7.2 million -- resulted in our 49th state nearly a hundred years later.

From issues sold during the Civil War, the Treasury observed that the technique of personal salesmanship -- house-to-house selling -- was highly effective. This knowledge was later used to help finance World Wars I and II, when hundreds of thousands of volunteer salesmen took bond orders.

The Treasury learned further from issues sold during the Spanish-American War -- that small denomination bonds had a ready market. So popular was this new type of bond that more than a quarter-of-a-million people subscribed to issues that ranged from $20 to $300.

The first of the Savings Bonds were offered by the Treasury in 1935, and in 1941 the Series E Savings Bond was born. It was to become the most widely-held security of all times.

After World War II ended many thought the Savings Bond had no place in the everyday life of a nation at peace. But the thrift habits of millions could not be discarded so lightly. Some 80 million Americans had accumulated E Bonds worth more than 30 billion dollars. While cashing some bonds to buy the luxuries that war had denied them, they wanted to keep on saving regularly.

And so they did. In the past 28 years, three billion Series E Bonds have been sold -- two-thirds of them of the $25 variety. The pre-war "baby bond" has grown up to a full-fledged adult, returning a modern 425 per cent interest when held to maturity. But it's still the favorite of the small saver -- to buy a college education, to make a down payment on that first home, to provide a luxury vacation, or simply to meet family emergencies.

That's the story of the war bond that refused to be one a peace-time casualty.

Refusal to Have Children

During his romance with Myrtle, Jack often spoke tenderly of the children they would have once they were married. But after the wedding, he changed his tune. In fact, he insisted on the use of birth control measures.

Finally Jack confessed that he had never intended to have children in the first place. Myrtle promptly sued for an annulment on grounds of fraud, and the court awarded her a decree.

Annulment of a marriage is not granted lightly. But it is granted, as a rule, if one of the parties was deceived during the courtship about something "essential" to the marital relationship. And having children is considered essential -- that is, part of the very foundation of the marriage.

Suppose the subject of having children had simply never been discussed before the wedding. Could the wife who wants children still complain that she had been deceived, even though her husband had never made her any promises?

Yes, because that kind of commitment is implied in the marriage contract. As one judge put it:

"Affiliated parties do not generally exact from each other a promise that they shall have offspring. Procreation, though not discussed, is taken for granted."

On the other hand, complaints of being deceived are relatively easy to fake, as an easy way out of matrimony. For that reason, the court may refuse an annulment if the complaining spouse's story is not convincing.

In one case, a woman sued for an annulment after 12 years of childless marriage. After all this time, she said, her husband had finally admitted he had deceived her from the very beginning and had never meant to have a family.

But the court decided that the woman herself could not have been any too eager for children. Denying an annulment, the judge said:

"She allowed 12 years of their life to slip by without insisting on her right to a family. I do not think she can be heard to complain at this late day."

THE KING FAMILY

When the late William King Driggs Sr., a music teacher, found his family growing faster than his salary, he organized the Driggs Family of Entertainers." The group, consisting of himself, his wife and their eight children, gave concerts in churches, schools, clubs and theaters throughout the West during the summer months.

Singing came naturally to the youngsters, and as each became old enough to learn a musical instrument, the family's repertoire expanded. "The King Family" television show was a natural outgrowth of this entertainment background.

Maxine, Luise and Alyce, using their father's middle name professionally, were the first to hit the bigtime. At an early age they made their bow as a trio on radio station KLX in Oakland, Calif. Later, while singing on KLS in Salt Lake City, band leader Horace Heidt heard the King Sisters and signed them for a two-week engagement at the Golden Gate Theater in San Francisco, an association which lasted for five years.

When Maxine married and retired, sisters Donna and Yvonne replace her, making it a quartet. With Heidt they toured the nation, appearing at major hotels such as the Drake in Chicago and the Biltmore in New York City.

In the early 1940s Alvino Rey, Luise's husband, organized a dance band starring the King Sisters. They appeared at the Astor and Waldorf-Astoria hotels in New York, sang on major radio shows, made hit recordings, made movies for MGM, RKO and Universal, and sang their way around the world entertaining U. S. servicemen.

At the close of the war, when their husbands returned from the service, the King Sisters retired to devote their time to their growing families.

In the meantime baby sister Marilyn had grown up and was now a soloist with Alvino Rey's orchestra.

In 1955 the King Sisters came out of retirement to join Alvino Rey in a television series from Hollywood. Donna was living in New York at the time, and Marilyn replaced her.

Remembering the family show of her childhood, Yvonne, who was living in northern California, decided to put on a fund-raising show for her church, employing the talents of the entire family. That show raised $5,000 for the church.

The next family performance was for Donna's church in Burbank, Calif. This show inspired William King Driggs, Sr. to have the clan do a benefit for Brigham Young University in Utah, where he was president of the first graduating class.

Yvonne obtained a video tape of that show and after editing it to a 60-minute program, she set out to sell it to television. As a result a "King Family" special was aired on ABC-TV on Aug. 29, 1964. Appearances of the King Sisters and their daughters on "The Hollywood Palace" and on other TV variety shows, as well as a "King Family" series on ABC next year, followed.

The King Sisters' daughters, Tina, Cathy, Carolyn and Candy, billed as the King Cousins, have been making their mark as a quartet as well as featured group on "The King Family" show.

Donna's daughter Candy, Cathy and Tina, daughters of Yvonne, and Carolyn, Maxine's daughter, scored in their first effort away from the family on John Davidson's "Kraft Summer Music Hall," resulting in a recording contract and guest appearances on many other television shows.

In addition to the King Sisters, Yvonne, Alyce, Luise and Marilyn, and the four King Cousins, appearing on ABC-TV's "The King Family" are sisters Maxine and Donna, their brothers, husbands, nieces and nephews, and the younger children of the various family branches including Marilyn's youngest, 2½-year-old Jennifer.

The eight children of the late William King Driggs Sr., who was born in 1885 in Pleasant Grove, Utah, and his wife, the former Pearl Mortensen of Sanford, Colo., listed in order of birth, are:

Karleton Driggs
Maxine
Luise
Alyce
Donna
Yvonne
William Jr.
Marilyn

The family branches are: Karleton Driggs, born in Sanford, Colo. (Feb. 1), married Hazel Leighter of Independence, Mo. Their children: Bill Driggs III, born in Oakland, Calif., Feb. 17, 1942; married to Low Angeles-born Barbara Johnson. Their children: Todd, born Aug. 17, 1966, and Tammy, born March 10, 1968.

Don Driggs, born in Los Angeles, Oct. 17, 1944, is married to the former Cheryl Crawley, UCLA'S 1966 Homecoming Queen. They have one son, Sean, born Aug. 16, 1968.

Raymond Driggs, born in Burbank, Calif., Aug. 27, 1952. He is currently studying flying and classical guitar.

Maxine (King) Driggs, born in Sanford, Colo., Oct. 5, married LaVarn Thomas, who was born in Harriman, Utah. Their children: Tom Thomas, born in Oakland, Calif., Dec. 21, 1942, married Donna Duncan of Burlington, Wyo. They have no children. Tom is studying dentistry in San Francisco.

Carolyn Thomas, born in Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 27, 1944, married William Brennan of Providence, R.I., Feb. 15, 1969.

Luise (King) Driggs, born in Payson, Utah, Dec. 21, married Alvino Rey, who was born July 1 in Oakland, Calif. Their children: Robert Rey, born in Los Angeles, March 3, 1946. Bob is in the Navy, but joins the family show as bass player when in town.

Liza Rey, born in Burbank, Calif., March 13, 1947, is in Spain with a Brigham Young University student group, majoring in Spanish.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Lt. Mike Haines is called on to investigate the disappearance of a valuable pendant from the home of one of his friends and to his dismay, discovers that the theft was actually committed by his friend, Norman Colfax, in "L Is For Love and Larceny" which will be presented on ABC-TV's "N.Y.P.D."

Jack Warden stars as Det. Lt. Mike Haines with Robert Hooks as Det. Jeff Ward and Frank Converse as Det. John Corso. Guest stars in "L Is For Love and Larceny" are Joanna Miles as Pat Colfax and Ralph Waite as Norman Colfax.

Alexander Mundy is assigned to find out why billionaire recluse John B. Cannon is selling his Middle East oil behind the Iron Curtain, on ABC-TV's "It Takes a Thief."

In "The Family," Mundy arranges to be quarantined with the Cannon family in their mansion. John Cannon, in his private quarters, remains as remote as ever, protected by a bodyguard, a watchdog and his ten-year-old granddaughter, Carlotta. However, after Mundy becomes acquainted with Cannon's daughter Andrea, who runs his mineral interests he thinks he may have a clue to the mystery.

Robert Wagner stars as Alexander Mundy and Malachi Throne co-stars as Noah Bain. Guest-starring are Geraldine Brooks as Andrea Cannon Lockridge, Cyril Delevanti as John B. Cannon and Carla Borelli as Laura Cannon.

The squad is split up and assigned to three separate charter vacation buses as they try to find the killer of a man found in a bus station on ABC-TV's "The Mod Squad".

In "A Seat by the Window," on his bus, Pete befriends a girl who is obviously in trouble while Julie, on a different bus, meets a seemingly retiring young man. On his bus, Linc is attacked and robbed. All these leads are brought to a denouement by Capt. Greer through the use of helicopters.

Michael Cole stars as Pete Cochran, Clarence Williams III as Linc Hayes, Peggy Lipton as Julie Barnes and Tige Andrews as Capt. Adam Greer.

Warren Beatty and Walter Matthau have been added to the list of movie stars who will host the 41st annual Awards Presentation of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

The ceremony will be held in the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion of the Los Angeles County Music Center.

Beatty appeared on last year's Oscarcast as a presenter. He was also nominated in two categories last year as Best Actor for his performance in "Bonnie and Clyde", and as producer of the film, which was nominated for the Best Picture Award.

Matthau won the Best Supporting Actor Oscar for his performance in the 1966 film, "The Fortune Cookie". Last year he presented the best supporting actress award to Estelle Parsons.

Joe Frazier defends his share of the World Heavyweight Championship in a 15-round title bout against challenger Dave Zyglewicz that will be televised live and in color from the Houston Coliseum on "ABC's Wide World of Sports."

Sports reporter Howard Cosell will be at ringside to provide the live commentary.

The Houston, Beaumont and San Antonio areas will be blacked out for the live telecast.

Frazier, undefeated in 22 professional fights, is recognized as world champion by five state boxing commissions — New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Maine. Jimmy Ellis is the owner of the heavyweight title sanctioned by the World Boxing Association and is recognized as such by all other states.

Frazier captured his title by scoring a technical knockout over Buster Mathis last March. The Philadelphia kayo artist has whipped Manuel Ramos and Oscar Bonavena since gaining the crown and will be making his third title defense. The ex?positive former Olympic champion has registered 19 knockouts in his 22 triumphs.

Zyglewicz, a native of Troy, N. Y. has a 28-1 record and is known as a brawler who has yet to take a backward step in the ring. Half of the 25-year-old former sailor's victories have come via the KO route. With sluggers like Frazier and Zyglewicz, this shapes up as an action-filled match that could end suddenly.

Doug Wilson will produce the live fight telecast from Houston and William Bennington will be the director. Roone Arledge is the Executive Producer of "ABC's Wide World of Sports."

An all-girl guest list, including Judy Carne, Millicent Martin, Jo Anne Worley and Anita Harris, joins singing star Tom Jones on ABC-TV's variety series "This Is Tom Jones".

The show begins with a romantic note as Jones gives an extravagant rendition of "I Need Your Lovin'" with the series' dancers.

Then Jones and his four lovely guests sing "You Can't Love Them All," followed by Judy Carne singing "Love's The Only Answer."

Comedienne Jo Anne Worley does a hilarious sketch on early vocal training and a comic rendition of "Love Is Where You Find It."

Then Jones sings "My Mother's Eyes."

Misses Carne, Martin, Harris and Worley combine on "Laugh-In" cuts as Jones sings "These Foolish Things."

Following Anita Harris, who sings "Lovin' You," Jones sings "He'll Have To Go."

Then Jones and Miss Martin blend voices to sing "Private Number," which is followed by Miss Martin's rendition of "I Think I'm Going Out Of My Head," with the show's dancers.

Jones concludes the program with his weekly concert spot, featuring "Show Me," "When I Fall In Love" and "High Heeled Sneakers."

NEWS NOTES

Richard Durnip will produce and direct the ABC telecast of the 41st Annual Awards Presentation of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. It was announced by Leonard Goldberg, ABC Vice President in Charge of TV Network Programming.

The 41st Oscar presentation marks the ninth consecutive year that ABC Television has covered the event and that Durnip has produced and directed for the network. This year Gower Champion will produce and direct the show for the academy.

The star-studded event will originate this year for the first time in the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion of the Los Angeles County Music Center on MONDAY, APRIL 14, and will be carried live and in color by ABC-TV.

Since last year's Oscarcast, Durnip has added five more TV directorial credits to his past achievements. He directed four plays for "N.E.T. Playhouse": "The Golden Fleece," "Chuck," "Thoughts" and "Camera Obscura" as well as "The Kate Smith Show," a soon-to-be-released television special.

Lawrence Welk, maestro of ABC-TV's "The Lawrence Welk Show," and Natalie Nevins and Joey Fanny, featured singers in Welk's musical family, will make three special appearances on behalf of the American Cancer Society this month.

ALMOST THIRD OF LINE-UP

Non-repeat entertainment programming, to be taped live before studio audiences will comprise almost a third of ABC-TV's prime time schedule this summer it was announced today by Leonard Goldberg, Vice President in Charge of TV Network Programming.

Five weekly hours of new comedy-variety programming will be introduced in the network's summer nighttime schedule. This will be in addition to four other existing prime time series which will present fresh programming through the summer.

The new summer programs include three hours each week of "The Dick Cavett Show," a one-hour musical-variety series starring Johnny Cash, and "The John Davidson Show" which will also feature fench singer Mireille Mathieu.

"One summer line-up is the most ambitious and exciting ABC has ever undertaken," Mr. Goldberg said.

"This summer schedule also represents another step in our continuing program of talent development with the featuring of three important stars-Dick Cavett, Johnny Cash and Mireille Mathieu. This development has already graduated to our prime time schedule for this fall Tom Jones and the Lennon Sisters."

Mr. Goldberg said the summer schedule would also be laying the groundwork for the new ABC-TV fall schedule in that "This Is Tom Jones" and "Let's Make A Deal" will be moving into time periods the programs will be occupying in the fall.

The four continuing ABC-TV series offering non-repeat programming are "The Newlywed Game," "The Dating game," "Let's Make A Deal," and "The Lawrence Welk Show" which will continue its tradition of providing live-tape programs through the summer with the exception of a half dozen repeats to allow vacations for the maestro and his staff.

The new ABC-TV summer schedule will go into effect over a period extending from May 26 through June 9.

"The Dick Cavett Show," starring the wry comedian who developed a popular following with his morning program on ABC and who was widely praised by the television critics, will be seen from 10 to 11 p.m.

"The Johnny Cash Show," which will star the dynamic recording and concert star, will be presented Saturdays at 9:30 p.m., EDT

"The John Davidson Show" featuring Mireille Mathieu will be telecast 8-9 p.m. Ther series will also star comedian-impressionist Rich Little and British comedienne Aimi McDonald.

"This is Tom Jones" will conclude its current Friday with the telecast of May 2. In this time period for the next three weeks, ABC News will present three news specials."

"Explorers Club-Riddle of the Mayan Caves," a filmed report on the club's explorations of caverns in Central America, will be presented May 9.

"Comrade Soldier," a profile of the Soviet soldier, will be telecast May 16.

"The Singers," a film study of song stylists Aretha Franklin and Gloria Loring, will be seen May 23.

19th CENTURY SEATTLE LOOKS GOOD

Professionally, Frank Hill is about a hundred years behind the times.

As assistant to producers Paul Junger Witt and Stan Schwimmer on ABC-TV's "Here Come the Brides," he is the researcher for the series set in post-Civil War Seattle. He has found it a nice place to live.

"It was a tight little town, virtually unreachable cross-country," Hill explained. "Not until the coming of the railroads, in 1884, was the isolation ended. Our series Seattle is factual in this respect. However, it is smaller and less prosperous than was Seattle in Washington Territory in the 1870's"

Hill, who has a master's degree in theater arts from the University of Texas, admitted that occasionally there's a slip-up in authenticity. The wrong carriage for the time and the place, for example, or shrubs, trees not indigenous to the area. "Then we get letters, from local historians and the Seattle Historical Society mostly. I do the answering.

"Sometimes it is impossible to keep 'Here Come the Brides' historically correct in all elements. We've been caught with the wrong buggy because one of the right type wasn't available when we needed it, for instance."

Before the series went into production last spring, Hill spent several weeks doing research on the Pacific Northwest as well as Seattle. He covered not only the period "Brides" is set in, and the arrival of the "Mercer girls," but also the coming of industry and the railroads some years later, the boom days of the Alaska gold rush.

When Seattle was incorporated in 1896, it covered an area of only 10.86 square miles, a speck of civilization framed by tall trees and water. "The forests were so dense that people got around mostly in the flatboats used to tow logs on Puget Sound," Hill said. "Can't you just see a bride and groom loading their wedding gifts in a canoe and paddling their way across the bay to their cabin?"

Were strict authenticity to prevail on "Here Come the Brides," Joan Blondell, who co-stars as the proprietor of Lottie's saloon, might well find herself instead running the Gutenberg North Pacific Beer Garden. Mark Lenard, who co-stars as sawmill owner Aaron Stempel, might be the owner of Yesler's mill in the sag (low ground) at the end of skid road along which oxen dragged logs. Clancey's (Henry Beckman) ship, the Shamus O'Flynn, might be the Katie Flickinger or FannieLake or Mud Hen, real vessels in Seattle history.

And there might be "sawdust women" at the Mad House, and gambling.

"Probably the hardest part of the job is keeping anachronistic phrases out of the dialogue-except for Clancey's. Henry Beckman has done his own research on seafaring language and he is magnificent at it," said Hill.

"ARSENIC AND OLD LACE" SPECIAL

Helen Hayes Robert Crane, Lillian Gish, Fred Gwynne and Sue Lyon star in a new and contemporary television adaptation of the classic "Arsenic and Old Lace," a special presentation, in color, of "The ABC Wednesday Night Movie".

Also starring are Bob Dishy, Billy De Wolfe and special guest star Jack Gilford.

David Wayne makes a special appearance in the role of "Teddy Roosevelt."

Luther Davis produced and also wrote this up-dated adaptation of "Arsenic and Old Lace" for Executive Producer Hubbell Robinson. Bob Scheerer directed.

"Arsenic and Old Lace" was brought to the Broadway stage by Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse, Jan. 10, 1941 and it soon was established as one of the classic comedy-dramas of the American theatre. Later, it also became a successful motion picture. Joseph Kesselring is its author.

In its adaptation by Davis, a New York television critic and his girl friend find that his adored and aging aunts have been bringing "peace and tranquility" to any gentleman in the neighborhood unfortunate enough to move in with them, merely by adding arsenic to his glass of elderberry wine.

They have, their nephew discovers, already given a swift removal from this pale to 11 such gentlemen in the basement of their Brooklyn brownstone. He endeavors to get them to break this "very bad habit" and to keep them out of prison.

Helen Hayes (left) and Lillian Gish, star as Abby and Martha Brewster -- hospitable sisters who bring permanent peace to any gentleman unfortunate enough to drink their elderberry wine -- in ABC-TV's special television adaptation of the classic ARSENIC AND OLD LACE.

This updated version of the offbeat comedy classic will be presented, in color on ABC-TV.

CAPTAIN JACQUES-YVES

Jacques-Yves Cousteau, whose "reality" series, "The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau," is now in its second season on ABC-TV, has made the world beneath the sea his laboratory.

For more than 30 years, ever since he first put on goggles and went fishing with spears, Cousteau has dedicated his life to the exploration of Earth's mysterious last frontier.

The fact that he was a sickly child, forbidden to engage in strenuous games, is probably responsible for his career as explorer of the ocean's depths.

Born in St. Andre-de-Cubzac, France, on June 11, 1910, Cousteau became an expert swimmer and developed an exceptional adeptness for things mechanical and inventive. He was educated at the Naval Academy of Brest and during service in the French Navy was a gunnery officer on the cruiser Dupleix and other vessels.

His enchantment with the sea began in 1936 when he donned Fenzi goggles and looked into a new unexplored world. The first major breakthrough into probing that world came with Cousteau's design of the aqualung, an apparatus which allowed man to penetrate 300 feet below the ocean's surface unburdened by cables and hoses.

After World War II, Cousteau continued his work for the French government by establishing the Group for Undersea Research, he began to experiment with underwater photography. He built numerous gadgets including equipment for August Piccard's bathysphere. He wanted to obtain a floating laboratory, workshop and diving platform to be used to widen the scope of the aqualung's usefulness, and in 1950 this became practical with the purchase of an old American minesweeper. He had it refitted and renamed the Calypso.

In 1957 Cousteau retired from the French Navy with the rank of captain. The following year he was made director of the Oceanographic Museum and head of France's Underwater Research Center. During the decade that followed he and his research ship, the Calypso, contributed much to man's knowledge of the oceans and the teeming life they support.

The Calypso is now in Pacific waters on its first visit to the United States since 1959. That year the ship charted a profile of the Atlantic Ocean floor as a participant in the International Geophysical Year.

In 1967 Cousteau began one of the most ambitious projects of his colorful career, a three-year, round-the-world voyage during which he would film 12 hour-long specials in association with Metromedia Producers Corporation and ABC News. The first four "Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau" specials were telecast last year. The 1969 series began with "The Unexpected Voyage of Pepito and Cristobal" on Jan. 13.

Capt. Cousteau's wife, Simone, and his sons, Jean-Michael and Philippe, are also expert divers. Madame Cousteau serves as supply officer and unofficial nurse and "Mother" to the divers under Cousteau's command.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

A new form of documentary movie, based on the life and times of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, will be produced for ABC-TV's weekly, 90-minute series, "Movie of the Week," it was announced today by Leonard Goldberg, Vice President in Charge of TV Network Programming.

The project marks the return to television of David L. Wolper, who has concentrated his talents on the production of theatrical films during the past two years.

"Sen. Robert F. Kennedy had a very profound impact and influence on this country, particularly among young people," Mr. Goldberg said. "And we consider it a great honor to be associated with David L. Wolper in bringing this story to a national audience through our 'Movie of the Week'."

Mr. Wolper will produce the Kennedy film and Mel Stuart will direct. This team has won seven Emmy Awards and received a total of 13 Emmy nominations.

After first being televised on "Movie of the Week," the film will be distributed to theatres throughout the world. "Movie of the Week," premiering this fall, will be seen Tuesdays.

"Discovery '69," ABC News' award-winning children's series, goes to the sponge docks of Tarpon Springs, Fla. and to the Gulf of Mexico to observe the way of life of very special fishermen in "The Sponge Fishermen," which will be presented in color on ABC-TV.

Bill Owen and Virginia Gibson, the program's hosts, take viewers on an exploratory trip in which they observe life in a small fishing village from the time the sponge fishermen go to sea until they come home with their valuable catch.

"Discovery" cameras focus on the fascinating undersea world of the Gulf of Mexico, 9,000 miles of which abounds with wool, yellow and grass sponges.

Beautiful underwater photography shows the divers gathering the sponges at the bottom of the gulf. The viewers will also see the hookers, fishermen who work in water up to 30 feet deep, hooking the sponges with pronged, rake-like tools.

"The Sponge Fishermen," was written and directed by Jules Power, who is the executive producer of "Discovery '69."
